DR. J. HENRY SMITH IS DEAD

He Passed Peacefully Away This Morning.

AN ESTIMATE OF THE MAN.

Something of Dr. Smith's Early Life And His Work in Other Fields. Funeral Will Take Place Tomorrow at 3 p. m.

Dr. J. Henry Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here and one of the best known divines in the State, died at his home on Church street this morning. His death has been expected for sometime though he had rallied somewhat from the critical state of a few weeks ago.

Yesterday however Dr. Smith grew rapidly worse and passed a very bad night, sleeping fitfully and only by the aid of opiates. During the latter part of the night he was in a semi-conscious state. During the morning he sank continually until about 9 o'clock, when the end came so peacefully that the watchers were hardly aware of it.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Presbyterian church tomorrow at three o'clock. The Elders of Dr. Smith's church will act as honorary and the deacons as active pall bearers.

Dr. Jethro Rumble, of Salisbury will conduct the funeral services according to a request of Dr. Smith sometime before his death. They were old and intimate friends. The church is being draped this evening preparatory to the service tomorrow.

THE MINISTER AND THE MAN.

It is impossible to describe the deep feeling of sadness, which so many hearts have felt as the tidings went from house to house that the voice of Dr. J. Henry Smith will be heard no more. The beloved form, so familiar to us all, will soon be deposited in the grave, no more to meet our view till the resurrection morn. The death of such a man is a loss which is deeply felt, not merely by his own church and congregation and the entire community, but it will thrill the hearts of thousands, irrespective of denominational differences, throughout his native state. While it is true the church at large has been deprived of one of its ablest and most useful divines, the blow falls most heavily upon his bereaved family and his own church.

He was a model father and husband. His tender affection for and his careful training of his children awakened in return their filial confidence, love and obedience, and has been rewarded in the position they now occupy in church and society. Amid his arduous, indefatigable and unceasing ministerial duties and labors, he never failed to realize that, as a father, he had a work to do, certainly of as great importance as any that rested upon him as a minister. Knowing well the dangers to which small, as well as older children, are exposed when absent from the parental roof, it was his constant effort, aided by the mother of his children, to make home so attractive that they would not desire to seek happiness or pleasure elsewhere. Both wisdom and care were exercised in directing their reading and studies as to make pleasant even such tasks as are often considered irksome, or when this could not be done he wisely encouraged such offset as would overcome difficulties. He sympathized with them in their plays and amusements, often himself entering heartily into them, thus making himself their companion while they loved and revered him.

It is needless to speak of him as a pastor and minister. The deep and ever growing affection in which he has been held by the people of his own charge, or perhaps it is more proper to say the mutual love and esteem between the pastor and his people, tells its own tale. In these days of unrest and change, when long pastorates are exceedingly rare, an exception to the rule that the mutual affection of which we have spoken, should have continued, not only with unabated breath, but with ever increasing strength is a more effective and enduring monument to his worth than any one of marble can possibly be. As we look back over these years, how many and tender memories crowd themselves upon us. How often his presence in the chamber of sickness and death, together with his prayers and wise and divinely directed words of instruction and comfort have cheered and strengthened both the dying and the bereaved survivors. How many anxious inquiries after the life and peace have found that which they sought; the Holy Spirit using him as His instrument in leading them to Christ as their Savior; his widely extended fame as an able and sound divine, makes it still less necessary to speak of him in this capacity. Here again his record is in the hearts and the minds of the vast multitudes who have heard him.

This day is a day of wide-spread grief and mourning, for a great and a good man has been taken from us. But there is a bright side to the picture. We sorrow not as those without hope. That which we call death is not such, but only a transition into a higher and nobler life. Write from henceforth "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." Yea, saith the Lord, "that they may rest from their labors and their works, do follow them." The reward awaiting such labors is unspeakably great.—Courtesy of the Westminster Presbyterian.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Jacob Henry Smith, D. D., the oldest son of Samuel R. and Margaret Smith, was born in Lexington, Rock-bridge county, Va., August 13th, 1820. He was prepared for college in his native town, and graduated from Washington College—now Washington and Lee University—June 29th, 1843. In the Fall of the same year he entered Union Theological Seminary, Va., and taking the full course, received his certificate in 1846, and in August of the same year he was licensed by Lexington Presbytery, and transferred to West Hanover Presbytery. In September of this year he took charge of the Church at Pittsylvania C. H., Va., where he was ordained and installed July 31st, 1847. Being invited to take charge of "Samuel Davies Institute," in Halifax county, Va., as Principal and Professor of Greek and Latin, he went thither in the beginning of 1850, and conducted that Institution with great success until 1854. At that time he was invited to Greensboro, N. C., and Charlotteville, Va. Accepting the latter place, he preached at Charlotteville till 1859, when he accepted the renewed invitation to Greensboro, N. C., and began his work here April 20th, 1859. In June following he was received by Orange Presbytery, and installed in July over the Greensboro Church, where he continued to labor with great success and acceptance.

Dr. Smith was an accomplished classical and Belles Lettres scholar, a well-informed theologian, and fairly abreast of the literature of the day. He was the owner of a good, well-selected and well-read library of sacred and polite literature. But his peculiar forte was that he was a powerful and impressive preacher. His sermons were finished and polished productions, filled with the choicest thought and garnished with graceful allusions, and enlivened with appropriate illustrations. To the polish of the graceful composer, Dr. Smith added the attractions of the skillful elocutionist, and the controlling power of a magnificent voice.

The Lord has greatly blessed his labors, granting him revival after revival in his own churches, and in others. In 1872 Hampden-Sidney College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and in 1877 the University of North Carolina repeated the honor.

Dr. J. Henry Smith was twice married. To Miss Catherine Malvina Miller, daughter of Hon. Thomas Miller, of Powhatan county, Va., March 15th, 1848. She died June 9th, 1854. To Miss Mary Kelly Watson, daughter of Judge E. R. Watson, of Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 8th, 1857.

A NEW RESPITE FOR THORN.

This Time The Judge Cannot Go On With The Trial.

SAND STORMS IN AUSTRALIA.

Woman Beaten into Insensibility By Burglars—A Captivist Falls into a Cellar in Atlanta and Injures Himself.

By wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 22.—Justice Wilmut F. Smith entered the court room at Long Island City this morning 9:30 and announced that he was unable to go on with the new Thorn trial. It was suggested that Justice Maddox of the Supreme court preside but at the conference which followed the attorneys could reach no agreement. Long before the hour for opening a large crowd had gathered at the court house and watched the clock impatiently until 9:30. At that hour Thorn was brought into court smiling but rather nervous. He shows signs of breaking down. It is not stated when the trial will be resumed but district attorney Young said it would not be delayed long.

A later dispatch says that it has been decided that Judge Maddox will preside at the Thorn trial and the case will go on without delay.

RAISING SAND.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 22.—A terrific dust storm has spread over northern Victoria. In separate towns churches, public buildings, dwellings and many business houses have been wrecked. Many people are reported either killed or injured.

FOUND INSENSIBLE.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Elizabeth, N. J. Nov. 22.—Mrs. Pauline Miller, aged eighty-seven years, living on Washington avenue, was beaten over the head during the night until she was insensible. The outrage is supposed to have been committed by some one who wished to rob her. She was reported to have hoarded money. She was taken to the hospital but will die.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Atlanta, Nov. 22.—H. Wiswall, the Boston capitalist who was injured some time ago by falling into the cellar at the Grand Opera House, died in the Grady Hospital this morning. He never regained consciousness sufficiently to tell of the accident. His body will be sent to Boston today.

USED A ROCK.

The Victim Had a Gash Cut in His Cranium—The Negro Arrested.

"Two fights and a foot race." The foot race has not come off yet, but the fights were pulled off in a hurry. Shortly after the fracas at Wood's barber shop, an account of which is given elsewhere, Mr. W. L. Hepler was standing on the street, near the court house, talking to Mr. J. R. Holt, when a colored carriage driver named Will Mason, drove up and demanded that Hepler get out of his way—so the story is told—and Hepler told the driver there was plenty of room to go around.

A few warm words, and it is said that Hepler called the negro some kind of a rascal, or scoundrel, or words to that effect.

The negro watered his horse, and coming up near Mr. Hepler, demanded: "Are you the man who cursed me?" or language of the same import, and at the same time struck Mr. Hepler on the head with a rock, cutting a large gash from which blood flowed freely.

Mason drove off down street near the McAdoo, but in less than five minutes Officer Scott had gently gathered him in, put a handsome pair of bracelets on his wrists and escorted him to the calaboose where he will have time to reflect on the hardships and cruelties of this unfeeling world.

GEORGE AND WILEY.

Two of the doughty wielders of "de razor" in Woods Barber shop had a small misunderstanding this morning. George is the ginger-bread head wielder and Wiley is of a rich deep ebony. Wiley insinuated that George was not exactly the peer of Solomon in brain power, although he did not use just those words, and George being ginger-bread as aforesaid, would not "take dat off no brack nigger" and the fun began. Wiley landed with power and earnestness on George's nose and George reciprocated on Wiley's "Mouf" in one two three order. Then they clinched a tumbled to the floor with George on top when the other employees separated them. And now the wonder is that in the abode of razors neither of the "colored gemmens" thought to use one. The stigma of the razor should henceforth be removed from the brother in black.

A COLLIERY ABANDONED.

Force of Men Now Tearing Down the Building.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Mahoney, Pa. Nov. 22.—The Schuylkill colliery, a familiar landmark of Mahoney valley, which has been in operation since 1863 has been abandoned. A large force of men today began the destruction of the breaker and other buildings around the entrance to the mine.

The Merry-makers.

The "Merry-makers" will open a 3 nights' engagement at the Academy Thursday night. The prices of admission will be 10, 20, and 30 cts. The Lebanon Times says of the organization:

The "Merry-makers" opened a week's engagement in Fisher's Opera House last evening, appearing in "Pinnigan's Fortune." The piece was new and afforded the kind of amusement which every person present looked for and enjoyed. It can be said that the company gives all they claim, and that our lovers of the theatre have a rich treat in store. To single out the star of the company would be a difficult matter, as each performer proved to be an artist and in the right role. The specialties were original and of the best order.

This comedy, as produced by the "Merry-makers," is filled to overflowing with side-splitting incidents, first class specialties, singing, trick, scenery, acrobatic feats, etc.

Matinee Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Nicaragua Canal Survey.

New York, Nov. 21.—The Atlas line steamship, Adirondack, which sails today, will take to Greytown, Nicaragua, a large quantity of provisions, utensils, and instruments for the use of the Nicaragua Canal Commission, which leaves this port this week on the guaboot Newport to survey a route for the canal. Three employees of the commission will sail on the Adirondack in charge of the goods.

Another Gun Boat Making Her Trial Trip—The Reply to Sagasta's Last Note to Be Submitted to the Cabinet.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Postmaster-General Gary continues to receive many letters regarding the postal savings bank proposition. As a whole the correspondence is a rather general commendation of the scheme. It is said today that the proposition will bear discussion in Congress and that a satisfactory conclusion will be reached.

RE-ORGANIZATION POSTPONED.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—The plan of the government to re-organize the navy has been postponed until spring which means that the scheme has been virtually shelved. This is due to the course of Russia in demanding the payment of the arrears of the indemnity of the Russo-Turkish war.

THE GUN BOAT WHEELING.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—The United States gun boat Wheeling started to sea today to complete the trial of her machinery and the other details of her construction. She will be away several days. She behaved well on her trial at Honolulu but the navy department requirements call for further trial.

THE REPLY TO SPAIN.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—President McKinley will submit at the cabinet meeting tomorrow the draft of his reply to the latest note of the Sagasta Ministry. It is an elaborate summary of the steps taken by the United States to prevent filibustering.

DISEASE SPREAD BY PENCILS.

Sterilization Suggested to Protect Children.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—The health authorities are making an investigation of the rapid spread of diphtheria and other contagious diseases among children since the public schools opened in September, and believe they have found the cause in the system followed in the use of penholders and lead pencils. All the pencils and penholders are gathered together each day just before dismissal and placed in a box on the teacher's desk. The next morning the pencils and penholders are redistributed, so that each child may get different pencils and penholders every day. City Sanitarian Clark says that it is second nature for children to place pencils and penholders in their mouths when at study, and that thus disease may be communicated from child to child. The City Sanitarian is experimenting with a preparation by which the pencils and penholders can be sterilized each day.

MRS. SETTLE ILL.

Apprehensions That She is Threatened With Appendicitis.

Special to THE CharlotteObserver.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Ex-Congressman Settle and bride arrived here today from Wilmington. Mrs. Settle is ill, and apprehensions are expressed that she is threatened with appendicitis. The wedding trip will end here for the present.

Facts Worth Studying.

If the Southern Stock-Mutual pays no larger dividends than the 20 per cent. now paid, and the business increases during the next seven years in the same ratio it has increased during the last three years, the actual saving for the ten years to policy-holders in North and South Carolina will be $194,822.00, and to the policy-holders in Greensboro alone, $26,237.00. Besides this the Company's assets (reinsurance reserve and surplus) represented by still larger figures will be kept at home and invested in the state. AND IT IS STRANGE.

Mr. W. T. Stead, editor of the English edition of Review of Reviews, has taken upon himself the small task of dissection and prophecy, the victim being Greater New York. Mr. W. T. Stead with that cheerful and condescending philosophy which so marks the Englishman's books predicting, as they all do, American misfortune is entitled "Satan's Invisible World Displayed" or if that title is not suited to the taste of the reader a choice may be had of the sub-title "Despairing Democracy."

As to the extent of Mr. W. T. Stead's first hand knowledge of Satan's world, visible or invisible, we are not authorized to depose, but the extent of his acquaintance with "Despairing Democracy" is well known to be limited to a few brief moments.

It was very thoughtful of Democracy to go with her little tale of woe to Mr. W. T. Stead, who having lived all his life in a monarchy, was necessarily so well fitted to lavish sympathy and furnish wise advice to a republic. It was a little thoughtless of Democracy however not to give one dolorous squeak, premonitory of impending collapse, for the benefit of the millions who are committed by oath and instinct to her policies.

It is noticeable however that from the little family row to which George Washington, Lord Cornwallis and other worthies were parties, up to now Democracy has generally fallen upon the shoulder of some stalwart Briton to weep away her troubles. She can not entertain one of the mighty eaters of beef for even a brief season without thrilling his vibrant soul with more or less of despair at her condition. Still it would have been well for Mr. Stead, the English editor and reviewer, to remember that Democracy despaired to Thomas Babington Macaulay some decades ago and that Mr. Macaulay based upon that despair certain prophecies which are still unwedded to fulfillment. Can it be that Democracy does dearly love to despair to a Briton?

It was Mr. Stead also who discovered what would happen "If Christ Came to Chicago." It took Mr. Stead only a few weeks at the World's Fair city to gather all the particulars of that future contingency. So why should he not easily plumb the despair of Democracy as voiced by Greater New York? There is no conceivable reason why an Englishman, of Mr. Stead's imaginative powers, should not learn from Democracy in a fortnight what an American can not compass in three score and ten years of close study in the thick of it in intimate acquaintance with a people and participation in shaping its government.

Not to Thomas B. Reed nor Arthur P. Gorman, John Sherman nor John Carlisle, William McKinley nor William J. Bryan did Democracy reveal her despair, with many years of opportunity, but from W. T. Stead she could not hide it for even a few brief weeks. Wonderful, is it not?

Keeper Burns seems inclined to sing "Gather Ye Maples While Ye May."

And now is the time when the revamp of turkey jokes getteth in his work from morn to dewy eve.

Who can doubt the fitness of Mr. Cleveland to recline in academic shades, to loiter, as it were, through a good long stretch of "innocuous desuetude?"

General Miles' proposal to equip federal treasuries with galling guns places him safely in the ranks of those equipped with a genius for making fool suggestions.

When Raleigh has another morning and another evening paper the inhabitants of that swift-paced Capital will feel like the late legislature was in permanent session.

One feature of the Kiondyke business that has hitherto escaped attention is the possibility of its becoming a dangerous competitor of the United States in the hearse market.

If Governor Atkinson, of Georgia, would rebuke the two-for-five demagoguery of his State by vetoing the anti-football bill he would raise himself in the respect of sane and sound people.

Our esteemed contemporary, the News and Observer, announces that it is soon to place a new perfecting press. We note with pleasure that this addition is necessitated by a growing circulation.

When the democratic party of North Carolina is taking stock of the things that caused its temporary downfall that case of dry rot with which it was afflicted should not be suffered to drop out of sight but should be kept in mind as a pertinent warning.

Despite the crawfish tactics of Mr. Marion Butler the paragraph quoted some days ago in which he libels the white manhood of the state has been fastened upon him by the affidavits of three of the most reliable men in Rocky Mount, all of whom declare that he used substantially the language attributed to him. It is no go Mr. Butler. The internal evidences of authorship are too strong. It's Butler all over and it will go down in the political history of the state as the blackest utterance any man in public life has made against her from the landing of the first colony to the reign of Governor Russell. The drift wood of camp vagabonds left by the receding tide of war was not so much a stench in the nostrils of decency as this man who lacks only the courage and opportunity to be a Benedict Arnold.

Praxitelean Keeper Burns, the deceiver of Washington's statue in living bottle green, has found a new outlet for his energies and a new field to fertilize with the talent that would else run to waste. There grew in the domain of Monarch Burns some fine young pyramid oaks and rare maples. They were choice young shoots, comparable in their fair promise only to that other green sprig known as Hallelujah Ayer. Now keeper Burns seeing how that his chief of state was fallen on the sere and yellow politically, and that he was served with over much cold shoulder by quondam political associates thought to cheer him and so plucked up these fine shoots, as above and sent them to His Excellency. And His Excellency was cheered for a time. But when the newspaper man in his much nosing ran upon the matter and aired it there was a difference in the morning. His Excellency went down and explained to the connoisseur in statues that it was not given him to pluck up or to plant what he would and the explanation was given in that virile English of which His Excellency is a master. Hereafter the keeper will devote his time more to painting and less to plucking.

SPINS LIKE A TOP.

A Little Boy Is Tortured by a Peculiar Nervous Malady.

A little boy, the son of prominent people in Jersey City, is afflicted with a most extraordinary malady. Involuntarily he spins like a top. Every few steps, whether he walks or runs, he turns his body all the way around two or three times. He wishes not to revolve, he tries not to revolve, but he has no more control over the revolutions of his body than he has over the revolutions of this mundane sphere. These "forced motions" have grown in force and frequency upon the unhappy boy since he learned to walk.

Lately Dr. Charles K. Mills and Dr. W. G. Spiller, two eminent physicians of Philadelphia who are specialists in diseases of the nervous system, carefully examined this whirling boy.

"The interesting feature in the case," said the distinguished physicians, "is the tendency of the patient to revolve while walking. He has been taught since he entered the school that he must overcome this impulse. He insists that 'he cannot help turning.'"

"It is impossible at present to decide whether these revolutions which 'he cannot help' are the result of organic or functional conditions. 'If some one would devise a method by which the Roentgen rays could give us a photograph of a brain within a skull, our means of diagnosing would then give positive results in such difficult problems.'—New York Journal.

A WONDERFUL CAT.

It Reasons Like a Man and Has Full Knowledge of Cause and Effect.

Charles Talcott of Starucca, Pa., has a remarkable cat. The other night Mr. Talcott came home with his feet wet. He could not find his bootjack, so he couldn't remove his boots. While he was searching for it the cat came into the chamber, remained a moment, listening to his master's opinion of the missing implement's spiritual deserts and then withdrew.

Leaving the house, the cat went directly into the garden of an adjoining house, looked up at a chamber and lifted up its voice in song. In a few moments the window above was thrown up and something was hurled out with tremendous force, striking the earth near the performer. It was a bootjack. The cat, without waiting to finish the note he had just attacked dragged the useful implement up stairs and laid it at his master's feet.—Exchange.

WHEELING TO KLONDIKE.

Two Men Possessing a Total of Three Legs Have Gone to the Goldfields.

Two bicycles lashed together, with a rowboat between them, containing provisions, clothing, bedding, mining implements and an adjustable umbrella-like awning, pushed by two men with three legs between them, attracted much attention in Elizabeth, N. J., the other day.

The rig out was that of Toney Sauer and Paul Ball, who are on their way to the Klondike goldfields. They expect to get to the Klondike in 90 days.

Sauer, the one legged man, rides a bicycle with one pedal. He designed their boat, which is portable and can be taken to pieces. Both men have been to the Klondike before, and they expect to return in a palace parlor car.

Are You Subject to Attacks of

If So, There is No Need to Suffer.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy

WILL CURE YOU

For several years I had been subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Sometimes they would last me an hour and hardly a week passed that I did not have several attacks. I tried everything that was suggested, but found no relief. During these attacks the muscles of the arm and leg were terribly drawn and the whole body was cramped. I was advised to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, which gave me relief at once, but not until I had taken two dozen bottles was I entirely cured. It was eight years ago since I took the remedy, and I have not had a touch of the trouble since.

Land Sale

By virtue of a mortgage deed executed by John Bethel and wife Fannie Bethel, on the 25th day of October, 1896, to J. W. Kerr, (since dead) and in consequence of a failure to pay the debt secured in said mortgage, I will sell to the highest bidder, for cash, at the court house door in Greensboro, N. C., on Saturday, December 12th, 1897, the lands described in said mortgage, butted and bounded as follows: Beginning on northeast corner of street on Main street leading to Greensboro, thence north 60 degrees east along westerly side of said street 10 1/2 poles, thence north 27 degrees west 14 1/2 poles, thence south 30 degrees west 10 1/2 poles to north side of said street, thence 87 degrees east with said street, 14 poles to the beginning, containing one acre, more or less. There is reserved from this sale the lot out of this boundary heretofore sold to Frank Fields. The above mortgage is recorded in book 102, page 707, in the office of the register of deeds, Nov. 4, 1897.

PORTABLE TAILOR SHOP.

Proprietor Moves It From Place to Place by the Aid of a Trolley Car.

Belleville, N. J., is about to lose its most unique place of business, which was one of the strangest in the state. About six months ago Otto Nack, a German tailor, had a discussion with his landlord. The discussion ended, the landlord says, at least as far as he was concerned, when Nack chased him out of his place by trying to stab him with a pair of big tailor's shears.

Nack was sick of landlords as this particular landlord was sick of him and invented a place of business which earned him free advertising and good business for a time. From the traction company he purchased two old horse cars. These were run off the tracks to a vacant lot, and Nack hung out his sign and began business.

Business has been slack of late, and the tailor took down his signs and slammed the doors shut with a bang more vicious than any old time conductor on a recent hot day. He set off on a tour of the railroad lines in search of fields and pastures new. He found them somewhere, for the two old cars are to be dragged on the tracks and hitched to a trolley and will again spin along the rails to their new location, where they will be shunted off on another vacant lot, and their owner will resume business.

When the new field is worked out, the store and residence will have another flying trip, their owner proposing to keep up this mode of life until he finds a town whose people are so poorly clad that they will need his services permanently. Then the wheels will be taken from the old cars, and they will be allowed to rest for good.—New York Press.

FOUND WHAT HE SOUGHT.

A Man Hunting Trouble Is Furnished With a Quantity of It.

Preacher Alexander Williamson was delivering an impassioned exhortation at the colored camp meeting at Quarryville, Pa., the other night, when Sanders Richardson, a well known character of that region, who had been to Lancaster during the day and had bought a jugful of whisky, started to take up a collection on his own account.

The Rev. Mr. Williamson stopped short in his sermon and asked Richardson to desist. Sanders ignored the request and declared he had come to camp meeting looking for trouble. The Rev. Mr. Williamson closed the Bible, walked down from the pulpit, and undertook to conduct Richardson from the place.

The brethren and sisters kept up an almost continual shouting while the person made his way toward Richardson.

"Just you keep quiet," said the preacher. Then he grabbed Richardson and administered to him a most thorough and artistic thrashing. When the thrashing was over, Richardson was unconscious. The leader of the choir, a man weighing 250 pounds, picked up Richardson and handed him over to a constable, who had been attracted by the noise. Then the Rev. Mr. Williamson finished his sermon as if nothing had happened to interrupt the service.

A Hot Time Ahead For England.

Charles N. Spooner, an Englishman, who spent three years in Simla and is now visiting his sister in Philadelphia, said yesterday that the British government would have much trouble in suppressing the revolt in India. "The Afriids," said he, "are the fiercest of all Indian tribes. They are desperate fighters and don't know what fear is. They are all Mohammedans, and there is just a chance that all the other tribes will become involved. If they do, there will be a long and bitter struggle. The Mohammedans stick together with remarkable fidelity. I believe that if the revolt spreads any farther England will have to send her entire military force to India.—Philadelphia Press.

Pearls In Arkansas.

White river, above and below Mount Adam, Ark., for several miles is lined with pearl hunters. The people are greatly excited over the discovery. Wagon loads of men, women and children are arriving from all sections. One party of campers found a large number of fine pearls recently. They were taken to the store of N. B. Price, and he valued them at $350. The pearls found are as large as buckshot, round and brilliant in color.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Flames Felt All Right.

The boy stood on the burning deck and rubbed his hands in glee. "I'm just from Klondike," he explained. "This feels all right to me."—Two Republics.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Anton Dolina has gone to Dyea on a mission for Italian women of Chicago, whom it is proposed to use in competition with squaws in packing burdens over the trail to the Klondike.

The Empress Eugenie has returned to Farnborough after a long cruise in the yacht Thistle.

The portraits of former secretaries of war have been returned to the department after a thorough cleaning at the Corcoran Gallery of Art.

A new field of work for American women has been invaded by Miss Jennie Revert of Long Island, who will this year be graduated from the veterinary school in Alfort, France.

A new musical prodigy has appeared in Vienna in the person of Paula Ezalt, a 10-year-old girl, who is said to rival Josef Hoffman in piano playing.

Appendix to the 'Life and Times of James Hunter; 1740-1821.

The records of the period are filled with appeals by Tryon and the legislature to the King and Parliament, that they be allowed to emit a currency for the colony, attended with the most solemn assurances that such was an absolute necessity.

December, 1767, John Harry, speaker of the assembly, says: (7,570) "Distress almost to ruin seems to be our inevitable lot from the great want of a sufficient circulating currency."

In August, 1771, Tryon declared the debt just incurred (8,651) "A load the province is absolutely incapable to discharge, unless by a new emission of currency, or an aid from Parliament, both of which I must beg leave to submit to His Majesty's wisdom."

In one such appeal in June, 1768, (7,791-2) Tryon represents the hardships of the situation to the people, as it actually was; and for the first and last time in his career does the Regulators justice and fails to slander them. He says, June, '68, "These Regulators declare they are not satisfied with the public and county taxes, and that it is not in their power to procure specie or currency, from its scarcity, to discharge them. Under such circumstances they have associated themselves together, by solemn oaths, to prevent the sheriffs levying upon their goods and chattles."

If His Majesty, in his wisdom, shall grant the address of this colony for a currency, I persuade myself the public taxes would be collected without any obstruction." Here the declaration of the Regulators, that their taxes remain unpaid, because money with which to discharge them, from its scarcity, is not to be had, Tryon corroborates. He corroborates and endorses this plea by his declaration that "under such circumstances" they confederated; by his appeal for a currency for them and by accompanying this with his expressed conviction that if the currency be granted, the taxes will be paid and thereby the troubles ended.

Remembering that this "address of the colony for a currency" was steadily rejected by the government at Home till the last, manifestly the war of the Regulation was intelligent resistance, now rendered unavoidable by and aimed directly at the oppressive policy of the English government itself.

If this War of the Regulation is not entitled to be designated a "Revolution," because the original purpose of the Regulators was not to "change their form of government," neither was the continuous and falsely so-called "Revolutionary" War entitled so to be dignified, from the same reason; for to a certainty Revolutionary patriots had no purpose of changing their form of government till 1776—five years after the war had begun. Here it is proven that the War of the Regulation was the beginning and the Revolutionary War the ending of one and the same war against oppression by the British Government; and that for the establishment of our free and glorious republic Washington and his coadjutors must share the honor with James Hunter and his. We are bound this day to do the Regulators this simple justice, and our sister Colony of Massachusetts, with the glories of her Lexington must yield precedence to the old North State and her Alamo.

From the above facts set forth by Tryon and Harvey we gather insight also into the process of schooling by which the Regulators were taught to hate the "Constitution" even more bitterly than they hated Sam'l Johnston and Richard Caswell, and we account readily for the fact that there was not within the tory ranks during the Revolutionary War one leader of the Regulators.

Prof. J. J. Blair, superintendent of Winston graded schools, was in the city this morning.

Rev. W. A. Lutz, pastor of the Lutheran church, Winston, was in the city this morning.

L. E. Steere, of Salisbury, was in the city this morning returning from Winston, where he spent Sunday.

Prof. D. T. Huyck, of Winston, was in the city this morning, returning from High Point, where he spent Sunday.

Mrs. E. M. Goolsby and daughter, Miss Mary, arrived in the city yesterday and are stopping at the McAdoo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Foushee went up to Asheville this morning to visit relatives. Mr. Foushee came up Saturday from Glendon.

H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, who holds a position in the pension office at Washington, was at the McAdoo yesterday. Mr. Evans was a candidate for governor of Tennessee in the last election and was prominently mentioned as a candidate for vice-president.

'SKEETERS' FROM TEXAS.

Jersey City, Nov. 20.—When Mayor Hoos, of this place, arrived at his office in the city hall he found a letter postmarked Galveston, Texas. The letter contained several specimens of robust Texas mosquitoes. They resemble gallinippers, but had larger bodies and shorter legs. The insects had been forwarded by C. M. Shotwell, with this note:

"Jersey has quite a reputation for raising mosquitoes. Can you find anything that will compare with these?"

Mayor Hoos says so far as he represents New Jersey he is willing to concede the championship to Texas.

The Bank Statement.

New York, Nov. 20.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Surplus reserve increase, $1,643,100; loans increase, $4,853,200; specie increase, $193,900; legal tenders increase, $2,795,600; deposits increase, $7,789,600; circulation decrease, $43,300. The banks now hold $23,408,240 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent rule.

The legislative joint committee which is to make the annual examination of the offices of the Treasurer and Auditor will begin that work December 14, Father Worth says. He says W. P. Ormsby, of Forsyth, is chairman of the committee.

What It Means.

When we advertise that we will guarantee Dr. King's New Discovery, Electric Bitters, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, or Dr. King's New Life Pills, it means that we are authorized by the proprietors to sell these remedies on a positive guarantee, that if purchaser is not satisfied with results, we will refund the purchase price. These medicines have been sold on this guarantee for many years and there should be no more conclusive evidence of their great merit. Ask about them and give them a trial. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

J. M. Carr returned this morning from Trinity, where he spent Sunday.

Clement Manly, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee, was in the city today.

S. G. White, representing Antietam Paper Company of Hagerstown, Md., was in the city today.

J. N. Longest returned to Pinehurst today to resume his duties there after spending a few days in the city.

John Jones, a merchant of Carbon-ton, Moore county, spent Sunday in the city and returned home today.

Rev. Labib B. Juraidini, of Mt. Lebanon, Syria, who has been spending three days here the guest of Rev. S. O. Hall, left today for Mebane.

Keep your feet warm and your system free from colds. How to do this is shown in the new ad of Shrier, the exclusive shoe dealer, in this paper today.

Miss Nannie Mebane and Miss Berta Mebane left today for Graham, where they will attend the marriage on Wednesday of Mr. J. K. Mebane and Miss Carrie Holt.

THE TELEGRAM rises to welcome the return of Presiding Elder Carraway and Pastors Weaver and Gay to this city. See the appointments for the Greensboro district in this paper.

Matthews, Chisholm & Stroud are up-to-date in their ads as well as in the stock they keep on hand. A new ad in this paper today. Read it and watch their space for the interesting matter they present.

The Greensboro Sash and Blind Company are doing lots of work. We asked Mr. Mendenhall today: "How is business?" and he replied: "Got all we can do, running on full time. Just received a nice order from Charlotte."

A very unusual announcement is made in Andrews' add today. He offers malaga grapes at 10c pound, but says they may advance tomorrow. They are fine large bunches. Get your Thanksgiving supply now before they go up.

A long freight train of live stock and poultry passed through here yesterday going north. The train was composed of one car of sheep, three cars double-deckers—of hogs, six cars of poultry, chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese—and fourteen cars of cattle with one of them partly filled with sheep.

The Merrymakers next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with matinees Thursday and Saturday at 2:30. The ladies free tickets that read good for Monday night will be good Thursday night, when accompanied by one paid 30c ticket. Every child gets a present at the Thursday evening matinee.

Officers Scott and Jeffries arrested two colored men yesterday who have been hiding for sometime. One of them, Haywood Smith was wanted for robbery committed here during last federal court, and the other George Johnston for assaulting a woman sometime ago. The officers found they were sleeping together out in Jacksonville and yesterday morning called before they were through their Sunday morning nap. It was a pity to have to pull them in the enjoyment of such luxuries, but they can sleep all day next Sunday.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Services Yesterday—Largest Sunday in the Churches History.

At the morning service yesterday at the Baptist church, Pastor Johnson announced that the Sunday school was the largest, perhaps, in the history of the church. The Telegram man penciled a few notes, intending to give a synopsis of the pastor's morning sermon, but we find that a synopsis, such as we could give in the space at our command, would do the splendid sermon an injustice. The attendance was large and the sermon was delivered in an earnest and impressive manner.

The text was taken from the 87th Psalm, 5th verse. The theme was "the church, the birth place of souls." Mr. Johnson presented the subject in a way which shows him to be a practical man, an earnest man, a man zealous for the welfare of the church, a man thoroughly consecrated and anxious for the salvation of souls, and an interesting and forcible speaker.

The church was packed and scores were turned away for want of room at the night service, the occasion being the annual Thanksgiving sermon before the Jr. O. U. A. M. The sermon is reported to have been a most timely and interesting one.

THE SYRIAN MINISTER.

Lecture on Syrian Customs, Religion and Habits.

The Lecture of Rev. Labib B. Juraidini, at Westminster church yesterday, was listened to with deep interest by a large congregation.

The speaker is a native of Syria, being born at Mount Lebanon. He was educated at the University of Beirut, and at the Presbyterian Seminary at Clarksville, Tenn. He speaks the English Language with remarkable fluency and distinctness, his native tongue being Arabic.

He appeared in native Syrian costume and described in detail the various articles of dress worn by his people. Described the vest and mantle, such as is supposed to have been worn by Elijah, and spoke of the Mohammedan religion.

It is his burning desire to have the Southern Presbyterian church establish a mission in Syria, and is now laying the matter before the different churches. He has offered his services as a missionary. The General Assembly which meets next May will probably take action in the matter.

His lecture lasted about an hour and he held the close and rapt attention of his hearers. He will lecture at Mebane tonight and on Wednesday night at Goldsboro.

British Steamship Ashore.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.
